

Appendix VI: List of the main bird feeding trees in Jamaica

Common name	Scientific name	Rose Hall
Red birch	Bursera simaruba	Present
Pimento	Pimenta dioica	Present
Naseberry	Manilkara zapota	Present
Strangler fig	Ficus	Present
Coconut	Cocos nucifera	Present
Logwood	Haematoxylum campechianum	Present
Banana	Musa sp.	Present
Bullhoof	Bauhinia divaricata	Present
Tamarind	Tamarindus indica	Present
Sweetwood	Nectandra sp.	Present
Guava	Psidium guava	Present
African tulip tree	Spathodea campanulata	Present
Cactus		Present
Bullet	Bumelia sp.
Burnwood	Metopium brownii
Fiddlewood	Citharexylum caudatum
Bitterwood	Picrasma excelsa
Prickly Yellow	Fagara martinicensis
Orange	Citrus sp.
Soursop	Annona muricata
Coffee	Coffea sp.
Erythrina	Erythrina sp.
Black mangrove	Avicenna germinans
Button mangrove	Conocarpus erectus
Red mangrove	Rhizophora mangle
White mangrove	Laguncularia racemosa

Based on Downer and Sutton 1990

*These are not the only plants important for bird foraging. Bromeliads and grasses are also important to many bird species. The trees in this list that were identified on the Rose Hall property are indicated, but some others on this list may also be present.